

TROUBLESOME TRUCKS

(O'Donnell / Campbell)

- Intro: The engines always think they are so clever,
And so they like to bump the trucks around
They bump them in the sidings.... They bump them in the yard
They'd better beware, they'd better take care they'd better be on their guard
- Ch: Because those troublesome trucks will get the engines every time
Troublesome trucks will run the engines off the line
They push them here, push them there 'till they're going too fast
Then they push them once again – laughing while they crash.
Troublesome trucks will get the engines every time
Troublesome trucks will run the engines off the line
They don't care how big they are, to them it's just a game
Those troublesome trucks will get them all the same
- Vse1: Diesel thinks he is so very smart, bumping all the trucks around the yard
He gets them all in line, then bumps them one more time
Now he thinks that he's in charge
The trucks decide to play another joke, and diesel's plans will all go up in smoke
He pulls and he pulls until he breaks the chain
On, on, on he's off the rails again.
- Ch: Repeat
- Vse2: The engines all try hard to make a stand, looking for a way to foil their plans
Nothing seems to work, it just makes matters worse, trucks are all so underhand
They bide their time until they get their chance, when no one is expecting it they pounce
They push and they push until it's all too late
On, on, on the trucks have won again.
- Ch: Repeat
- Outro: They don't care how big they are to them it's just a game
Those troublesome trucks will get them all the same.
